

Insights

@WeRateDogs Twitter

Meet Atticus

Ranked 1. Above all others

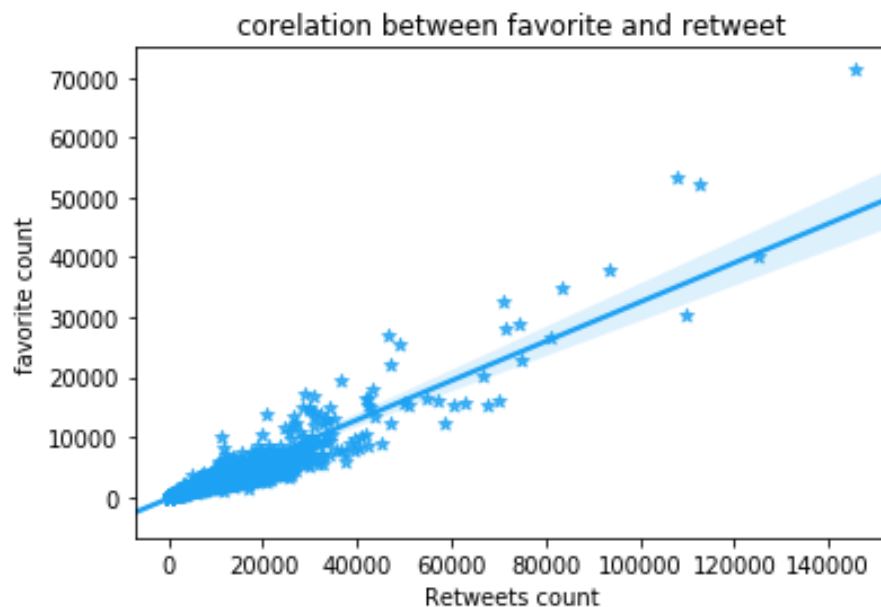

Atticus came out with an astonishing rating of 1776!

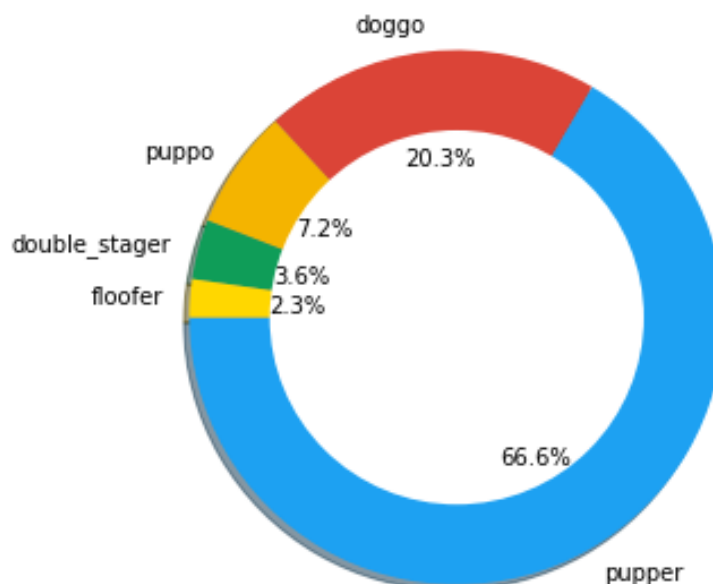

Seems he was celebrating July 4 of 1776

For more insights I was checking if there is any Correlation between retweets and favorites. Not surprisingly there was a positive linear regression which made total sense, more retweets and surely means more favorites.

Dog growing stages had a huge impact! It seems people are more attracted to posting Pupper photos ! sweeter maybe ?

Doggo stage is in a good spot placing 2nd , then comes the less common puppo stage, weird that double stagers got slightly better than floofer, which seems far behind for some reason.

It was interesting for me to know which posting device/source got the most favorites, or retweets as they are correlated, and it was quite surprising to see that it was an Iphone with a big difference!

After seeing this and assuming that @WeRateDogs is a very light and casual page would make more sense, as a non Twitter user I got to see some original insights and uses of this platform, some posted here some saw on the way, what for sure is that

We Love Dogs